

TIGERS PREPARE FOR HARD GAME

Will Also Try to Get "Goat" of State College by Big Parade on Friday.

The high school has planned another of those humorous street parades for Friday night in honor of the coming game with the New Mexico State college at Mesilla Park, on Saturday afternoon at Rio Grande park.

The entire school and many grammar school students are to take part. Every one who possesses either a "liver" or an auto has been asked to bring it along for the girls to ride in. There is to be much music, the high school orchestra, the cadet bugle corps and the high school "agony squad," with their pans and cante, bells and gongs, all taking part.

All boys will be dressed in costume, from hucklebuck football players, "shines," "Cops" and farmers, to night-shirts and pajamas. The boys will give a continuous snake dance, accompanied by school yell and song. Plans have also been made to have floats of the good ships "High School" and "Mesilla." The high school has Mesilla's goat and will have it on display in the parade, so that all El Pasoans may look at it.

The parade will start from the high school at 7:30 o'clock sharp, and go through the business section of the city. Saturday, at Rio Grande park, the high school will play State college. Judging from the game at Las Cruces two weeks ago, it is to be the best game of the season in El Paso.

As a preliminary, Lamar will play the Bailey school. This game starts at 3:15 o'clock and should also be a close contest. Bailey having won the first game, Lamar players are letting out words to the effect "that they are going to cop this one."

Hart Threatens to Quit First Aid Work "Ruby" Bob Says Son Can Lick All Present Day Heavy Weights

Bob Fisher Pushes His Face In Too Much

DOC HART, who renders first aid to the injured Cubes, threatened to quit his job next season unless shortstop Bob Fisher wears a mask. "That bird has caused me a lot of trouble," asserted the medical Mr. Hart. "In Pittsburgh he pushed his face in front of a nasty grounder and squeezed his nose. He busted. I fixed up that beaser so he could play a few days later and what does he do but push his map in front of another grounder and knock his nose out of its plaster cast."

I had a tough job getting his nose into shape and getting him back into the game, but he hardly got back again when another grounder walloped him on the eye and blackened it up most beautifully. Not only did I have to doctor that eye, but I also had to do some salting for Bob every time some of the outsiders charged that he got the bum lamp through stopping somebody else's punches."

Great Pitching Feats. Ty Cobb failed in his ambition to steal 100 bases this year, falling three piffers shy of the mark, but his record of 37 probably will stand for many years to come. Certainly there's no one in the baseball business just now who looks fast enough to beat that mark, and it's doubtful if Ty can do it himself.

Ty has established five baserunning records in the American league. In 1907 he stole 49 bases, breaking the old record of 42 bases jointly held by David Puth, made in 1902, and Frank Labell, made in 1901. In 1909 the Georgian bettered his old mark by stealing 74 bases. The crown went to Eddie Collins in 1910 when he stole 51, but Ty came back in 1911 and stole 52. This record was passed in 1912 by Clyde Milan, of the Senators, who made 55 steals. And now Ty has gone beyond this mark.

Bob Bescher, with the Cardinals, holds the National league base stealing record. He stole 50 sacks in 1911, while with the Boons.

Harry Stovey, a star of the old days of baseball, stole 156 bases during the 1887 season, while a member of the Philadelphia club of the old American association, but the game was played differently in those days.

Giants to Be Heebled. Jawn McGraw is spending his days, and nights, trying to "dope" out the assembling of his 1914 team. Jawn's going to kick the old machine to pieces before the next season rolls around, and there'll be many new faces in the lineup. But just now Jawn isn't quite decided as to which of the old coms to throw away, and which to keep.

However, it seems certain that Mathewson and Tesreau will be on the 1914 pitching roster. Ditto for Merkle, Fletcher, Doyle, Burns and Robertson. Stroud, a pitching person, also seems fairly sure of lingering, but there's a lot of doubt as to the others.

DILLON PREFERS FIGHTING AT 170

Indianapolis Middleweight Again Proves Ability to Win Out of His Class.

By TOM ANDREWS.

Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis middleweight, has again proved his ability to go out of his class and win in a decisive manner. Jack can make 160 pounds without weakening himself in the least; but it seems that he prefers to fight around 170, where he does not have to make any weight, rather than get down to any poundage for the smaller man. Dillon has after said that he would much prefer giving away 10 pounds to 30 any time, to taking off five pounds to meet a smaller man.

Gives Away 18 Pounds. When he met Gunboat Smith in Milwaukee, Dillon gave about 18 pounds and won in a decisive manner. Recently he met Jim Savage of New York, in a 10-round contest and gave the eastern man a severe whipping, despite the fact that he gave away fully 20 pounds in weight. Jack smiled a little over 175 pounds, while Savage weighed nearly 150. Dillon put Savage to the floor for the count of nine on three different occasions, which shows that he must carry a very heavy wallop for a man of his size. There is no man in the country better entitled to the light heavyweight championship than Dillon, and if there is anyone who wants to put in a claim for it, they will have to first tackle the Hoosier.

May Go to Australia. There was talk of matching Dillon and Mike Gibbons some time ago, but it is not likely that Jack will want to make the weight now, although at that time he offered to put up $1000 forfeit to make 175 pounds at 2 o'clock for a championship fight with Gibbons. Dillon and his manager, Sam Mur-berger, have been thinking of making a trip to Australia, but the chances are they will not attempt it now until late next spring or even the following season.

GRAHAM FAVORITE WITH THE FANS

At their grounds, now I'd like to have them play my team five games at Washington park."

Pleased With Team's Success. Capt. E. V. Smith, president of the Army football team, was elated at the success of the soldier team and also pointed out that Mortimer, the hitting star of the bakers, is also a soldier, being a member of the Sixth Infantry, who was given permission to continue with the Parlys as he had played with the bakers most of the season.

Both presidents took occasion to comment upon the good work of the two soldiers, Harry Kane and J. J. Ferro. The games were free from trouble of any kind, and the fans were treated to exhibitions of clean baseball.

After the series of exhibition games between the 25th Infantry and the Kansas City leaguers, the Shelton-Payne and the Miami club, it is likely that a winter league will be organized and the suggestion has been made that the league take in two civilian teams as well as the soldiers and make it a race in which the civilian fans, as well as the army, will have an interest.

The world series is over and the "Globe League" just starting. We sat 1940 in the "Globe League" last night. W. R. Sample, successor to Southwestern Fuel Co. Phone 511—Ad.

Bob Fitzsimmons, Jr.

OLD Bob Fitzsimmons, one of the greatest fighters who ever donned a glove, thinks that his son, Bob Jr., who has just turned 19, is the coming champion of the heavyweight class. "Ruby Bob" goes even farther than this. "I can lick all the 'heavyweights' of the past ten years," says Bob, who is now in New York trying to frame up a match for his son.

Bob, Jr., weighs around 190 pounds and is six feet one inch in height. He has been traveling around the country with his father giving exhibitions of boxing and occasionally meeting some boxer in the ring.

Old Bob is anxious to pit his son against Moran or Coffey, preferably the latter.

HUEY RETIRES; BILLIARD TITLE REVERTS TO DE ORO

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Alfredo De Oro, of New York, again is world's champion at three cushion billiards.

"Fighting Bill" Huey, of Chicago, officially forfeited all claim to the title yesterday, when he gave up the diamond trophy, emblematic of the championship.

Against a challenge to the winner of the scheduled Huey-De Oro match will meet De Oro for the championship within 48 days from last Saturday. It was announced last night.

It is charged that Mantel threatened to search everyone in the house at 909 South El Paso street. The policeman had overpowered him before Mantel could be taken to the police station.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR GETS A WORLD SERIES LITVIER.

The telephone operator at the El Paso Milling company won on the world series baseball games without any more original investment of her "boys" at the Pearson Mills during the world series. She is Mrs. Ida Corbett and she is wearing a new lavallier as a present from these same "boys" at the milling plant. When the "serious" started Mrs. Corbett spent her lunch hours to secure the scores over the telephone from The Herald editorial department. As soon as she would get a new score she would plug in on her board to all of the various departments of the great plant and tell the men the latest news of the series.

At the conclusion of the series Mrs. Corbett was presented with a beautiful lavallier in the form of a pansy and set in diamonds with the compliments of the Milling company force.

U. S. ASKS BETTER PROTECTION FOR AMERICANS ON HIGH SEAS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Publication last night of the text of the latest note sent by the United States to Germany in the case of the American ship, William P. Frye, reveals that the United States does not regard "an opportunity to escape in a lifeboat" as sufficient safety for passengers and crew of any American vessel destroyed when carrying contraband.

In the note, which is dated October 12, secretary Lansing expressed satisfaction that Germany agreed to the American proposal for a joint commission of experts to fix damages for the loss of the Frye, sank by the commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, and compare the suggestion from Berlin that it is not necessary to appoint an umpire in advance.

DEVELOPER FIRM AWARDED BONDS

$300,000 Road Bonds go to Wright & Co.; Chicago Firm Makes Objection.

The county commissioners court, in session Tuesday afternoon, formally accepted by bid of James N. Wright & company, of Denver, for the $300,000 issue of road bonds voted October 12. The bid was par and accrued interest. The court Saturday afternoon wired the acceptance of the bid, conditioned on a check for $3000 being deposited before 2 p. m. Monday. Before that hour the money had been deposited in Denver and was available through a local bank.

Contest Over Award. When the court convened a bid of par and accrued interest and $20 premium was offered by John Nyeen & company, of Chicago, through their representative, A. E. Hueck. Mr. Hueck contended that his bid was the only lawful bid before the court, but he was reminded by county auditor Roy B. Barnum that his bid had been made after the terms of the Denver firm's bid had become known, and that his first bid had been considerably lower than the bid from Denver. When it came to a vote the bid of James N. Wright & company was unanimously accepted. When John Nyeen & company's certified check for $3000 was tendered Mr. Hueck he refused its return.

PRESIDENT WILL TALK DEFENCE

Wilson's Address Will Cover Army and Navy Expenditure Program.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—In his address at the Manhattan club in New York, Nov. 4, president Wilson will outline his national defense program which probably will mean an expenditure of approximately a billion dollars on the army and navy in the next few years. With estimates of the war and navy departments submitted for the coming year, the breadth of the administration's policy as to preparedness is being realized. It shapens up in totals as follows:

Navy.—For new ships and increased personnel in five years, $300,000,000. Army.—For reserve, material (arms and ammunition) within four years, $100,000,000. For new coast defenses and modernization of old forts within four years, $81,000,000.

New Continental Army.

For the new continental army and the proposed increase in the regular army, $23,000,000. (This amount probably will be a continuing and if anything increasing appropriation through the first six year period which would make the total expenditure at that time $154,000,000.) The grand total expenditure thus actually planned would be $842,000,000. According to plans laid out by experts of the navy and war departments these expenditures would produce by 1925 a first line of dreadnoughts and battle cruisers numbering 45; a line of coast defense submarines that would fringe the Atlantic and Pacific coasts with an almost solid line of defense against attack; a fleet of nearly 115 destroyers and squadrons of huge sea-going submarines to operate with the battle squadrons at great distance from shore.

For Big Trained Force.

For the army, there would be at the end of six years a trained force of 1,200,000 men, including a regular army of 140,000 and the proposed continental army and reserve; a ring of fully manned coast defenses, equipped with the largest and most powerful guns yet built and a vast reserve of field guns, machine guns, howitzers and big gun ammunition. In addition, the enormously increased capacity of private munition plants would give assurances of ample supplies of small arms and field gun ammunition.

the auditors he paid $100 for the extra work. This was authorized. The audit showed that the school investments in county 2 percent bonds, now amounts to $12,000. The court authorized the installation of an adding machine in Miss Winkler's office.
